1770 House Opens Its Garden Patio

The 1770 House in East Hampton has opened its garden patio this week beginning on June 10 with a special $68 three-course prix fixe dinner by chef Michael Rozzi, including two appetizers and a main course. Dessert can be purchased for an additional price and wine selections from the 250-bottle wine list, overseen by wine director Michael Cohen, will also be available for guests to enjoy.

First-course options include spicy Montauk fluke tartare, a chilled sweet pea soup with crab salad, asparagus salad with Parmesan, oreganata bread crumbs and a local duck yolk and lobster Timbale with a Vadouvan curry dressing and Balsam Farm greens. Second-course options include rock shrimp shumai, golden beet risotto, seared Hudson Valley Foie Gras and more. Third-course menu items include roasted Montauk striped bass with a sweet pea relish, seared Montauk sea scallops with a caviar and seaweed sauce and beef tenderloin a la Plancha.

Dinner on the patio is weather permitted with limited seating seven nights a week. Reservations open two days in advance and can be made by calling 631-324-1770. Take-out continues to be available as well. For more information, visit 1770house.com.

Coastal Art Maps Unveils New Map of Twin Forks

Coastal Art Maps, a company that specializes in hand-drawn maps of shorelines across the United States, has just released a new map of the East End of Long Island. Mapmaker Joseph S. Tarella has updated and reworked his earlier maps of the area, and this new map showcases the North and South Forks and all the iconic islands sandwiched in between.

This is the newest addition to the Coastal Art Maps collection, which includes more than three dozen hand-drawn maps of U.S. coastlines. Mr. Tarella, owner of Coastal Art Maps, was able to spotlight the historic towns, coastal attractions, popular islands, gorgeous beaches, and waterways along the East End of Long Island, graphically contrasting the more populated South Fork with the spare North Fork.

"Long Island is the longest and the largest island in the contiguous United States, extending 118 miles eastward from New York Harbor to Montauk Point. The area is stunning and diverse, and I was excited to spotlight the breathtaking beauty of Long Island's East End through this updated map," Mr. Tarella said in a press release. "This beautiful, scenic and historic area is popular for a variety of outdoor activities, like boating, kayaking, paddle boarding, hiking, surfing, swimming, whale watching, and also offers splendid restaurants, shops, farms, and picturesque scenery."
